Second Artist Course 'Don Giovanni' Appears

The Winthrop College artist series will present Mozart's "Don Giovanni" Monday at 8 p.m. in the College Auditorium.

Called "the greatest opera of them all," "Don Giovanni" has suffered innumerable musical mutilations foreign to Mozart's true version.

In returning to the Prague score, Boris Goldowsky has sought to reconstruct the elements of the original production, stripping away the accumulation of errors and irrelevances that have traditionally bedeviled the score.

Goldowsky himself is known to music lovers as "Mr. Opera."

He is regarded by millions throughout the country as grand opera's most articulate spokesman whose "Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen" has for 17 years whetted in the witty and informative "Opera News on the Air" international features of the weekly Metropolitan Opera Broadcast.

The noted musician founded the Goldowsky Grand Opera Theater in Boston in 1946 to realize his dream of great opera as living theater.

This is the company's sixth annual cross-country tour in addition to its 14 successful seasons in its home theater in Boston, proving that the lyric masterworks of Mozart, Verdi and Puccini can be convincing and absorbing drama, subtle or rollicking comedy rather than mere displays of vocal pyrotechnics.

A company of 50 — including many principal singers, full chorus and orchestra — will be involved in the local presentation, which will be fully staged with all eight of the traditional scenes set in 17th Century Seville.

The scenes are authentically recreated by means of the revolutionary new Ray Multi-Projection System — glass slides projecting the scenic artist's original designs onto plastic flats and making it possible to "melt" one scene into another in a matter of seconds without loss of dramatic continuity.

The specially constructed plastic shell has acoustical properties as well, reflecting sound in such a way as to insure perfect audibility in all parts of the auditorium.

English Profs. Attend Conf.

Three members of the faculty represented Winthrop at the fourth fall conference of the South Carolina Council of Teachers of English at Columbia College Saturday.

Attending from Winthrop were Dr. Hampton Jarrett, Head of the Department of English, and Dr. Cicilia Wine and Miss Anne Sawyer of the department.

Delivering the principal address was Dr. Joseph Monahan of Jamaica, N. Y., president of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Republican Defeated By Narrow Margin

The brilliant young senator from Massachusetts is apparently the students' choice for President of the United States. After energetically campaigning for the candidates of their choice, students on the nearly split campus went to the polls Wednesday and handed Sen. John F. Kennedy a narrow victory over Vice-President Richard M. Nixon.

Assembly Discussion Slated

The assembly program Tuesday will consist of a debate moderated by Mr. Marshall Dowell, editor of the Rock Hill Herald. Elsa Torn, Ann Wood, Sara Pitts and Betty Byrd will comprise the panel. These girls, who are all seniors, were chosen because of interest in the upcoming national election.

Among the subjects to be discussed are Quernoy, Mats, West Berlin, Cuba, the U-2 incident, national prestige, national defense, civil rights, farm subsidies, federal spending, medical care for the aged, the budget, roads, housing and federal aid in education.

Dr. A. L. Duckett, professor in the History Department, stated that "The purpose of this panel discussion is to emphasize the important issues concerning the presidential election."

Members of the faculty who planned and supervised the program are Dr. Mildred C. Beechwith, Dr. A. L. Duckett and Mr. E. T. Crowson.

Assoc. Gets Application

Applications for Alumnae Association Honor Scholarship to Winthrop College for 1951-52 are currently being received.

High school senior girls enrolled in accredited South Carolina schools are eligible to apply.

The deadline for applications is Feb. 6. They should be sent to the chairman of the Alumnae Honor Scholarship Committee, Box 1485, Winthrop College.

Selection will be based on outstanding ability and achievement as measured by high school grades, entrance examination scores, character, leadership and service.

Announcement of the winners will be made in the early spring, according to Miss Eleanor W. Foxworth, alumnae executive secretary.

She added that donations to the scholarship fund made after next April 30 will be applied to the 1952-53 scholarship program.

Miss Revelle, Mr. Gover State Opinions; Two Work In History, Sociology Fields

MISS NANCY REVELLE

"I like it very much and am very pleased with the setup" and "I have been very favorably impressed by the resources of the library which are remarkable for a college of this size" were the comments of two new members of the faculty, Miss Nancy Revelle of the History Department and Mr. David Gover of the Sociology and Home Economics Departments when asked of their impressions of Winthrop.

Miss Revelle is a native of Woodland, North Carolina. She received her B.A. from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and her M.A. from the University of North Carolina. Miss Revelle taught for a year in a public school in North Carolina, and prior to coming to Winthrop, she taught for two years at Stratford College in Danville, Virginia.

At Winthrop Mr. Gover is associate professor of sociology. When asked about his connection with the Home Economics Department he stated, "At present I am assisting in getting a research program in co-operation with Mrs. Kathryn Powell. We are attempting to set up a research program at Winthrop, and within the next two or three weeks we expect to get under way a specific part of this program."

Mr. Gover has a very interesting background. Before World War II he attended Central Michigan University for one year. After the war he attended the University of Michigan for a year and a half. He was in the service from 1943-1946. He received his B.A. in 1947 and his M.A. in 1951 from the University of Michigan. In addition to being an insurance salesman for one year, he taught in Maryland and Mr. Pleasant High Schools in Michigan for several years. Also he taught "Marriage and the Family" for several semesters at the University of North Carolina. For the past three summers he attended graduate school at the University of North Carolina.

Navy Lieutenant To Interview Here

Lieutenant Dorothy A. Bonbright, Wave Procurement Officer of the United States Navy, will be on the campus Wednesday from 10 a.m. through 3 p.m. to acquaint students with the opportunities for a commission in the Navy. She will interview any interested students and plans to speak to a group of juniors and seniors in the Canteen.

Theatre Sponsors Conference

The Winthrop Theatre will sponsor the annual High School Drama Directors' Conference in Johnson Hall today and tomorrow. High school students especially interested in the drama field have also been invited to attend.

"The purposes of this conference are to make plans for the Drama Festival, to be held at Winthrop in the spring to offer aid to the various directors, and to exchange ideas in play production," stated Mr. William I. Long, Head of Winthrop's dramatic department.

In addition to attending Saturday morning workshops in Johnson Hall, the guests will see the Theatre's production of "Charley Aunt." A Conference luncheon in the Dining Hall is planned for tomorrow afternoon.

The Winthrop Theatre will also play host to members of the South Carolina Speech Association, who will be meeting in Johnson Hall at the same time Conference is scheduled there.

Members Of SSB Make Trips

Two Winthrop students, members of the Student Speakers Bureau, traveled to Fort Mill and Clinton last week.

Attending a district South Carolina Scholastic Press Association meeting in Fort Mill, Princeton Gaskins led a discussion at the Fort Mill High School on news writing and on various problems of handling news in the high school papers.

Betty Jane Hamer traveled to Clinton where she talked to Clinton Junior and senior girls. After telling them about life at Winthrop, she answered questions concerning college life.

SGA Constitution Changes

(Editor note: In order to amend the SGA Constitution, the proposed change must first be approved by Senate, then by the student body, by the Faculty-Student Senate Committee, and finally by the President of the College. Last year's Senate felt there was a need for revisions in our Constitution, and the report passed at the October meeting of Senate, is recorded below. An SGA meeting will be held on Wednesday, at which time the student body will vote on the changes. Every student is requested to study this report, and compare it with the present form in the Handbook, and vote thoughtfully at the SGA meeting. The only available copies of this report are in this issue of The Johnsonian.)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WELL—THAT'S ONE FLUNK 'READY."

Do We Want Progress?

Our campus is rapidly changing. Physical facilities as well as academic standards and procedures are being improved.

With each change there has come a regular amount of griping and discussion concerning the "why" of the change. Why did they stop ringing that big tower bell before meals? Who stole our police station? They fogged the campus for insects this morning. Why didn't someone warn us? Have you heard the rumor about coeducation?

It is natural for changes, and such fast changes, to arouse interest and resentment from persons who have been in a regular routine. But we say that all decisions made are made with the interest and the betterment of the entire college in mind. Everyone in a community as large as Winthrop cannot be pleased at the same time.

Our campus is progressing, and the only way it can progress is by changing, moving, and getting rid of some of the fixtures that have been here for so long that they are molded and out of date. Through this process, it is inevitable that some people's routine be changed.

We have the right to know the "why" of the many changes, but we have no right to condemn the decision makers until we understand the problems fully.

We the students, the faculty, the staff, and the administration must be open minded. If we want our college to progress, we must accept the changes that have already been made, as well as expect more changes in the future. Only then will true progress come.

Dear Matilda

Dear Matilda,
Blasted Saturdays—and just this past one I had free cuts in both my classes. So I envisioned several extra scooters. But Fate and the rain gods were against me. I was marching to class, to the P.O., to the canteen—right past my do-not-ed door they roared. The Midnight Special back home didn't make so much noise as it blared by my house. Please deliver me from this daily and nightly exodus.

Now I'm a rather tolerant young thing, but enough is sufficient. All the "dorm-open" hours are filled with these blatantcious Winthrop fillings through the halls outside my door. When the weather is bad, it's forgivable; but on these lovely Indian Summer days, why must they come through and distract me? I'm very easily distracted—an ant walking on the desk toward the cake crumb is enough to throw me off the beam for an hour and a half.

Please talk to all these tender young ladies and get them to be a little more quiet passing by the halls if you can't persuade them the autumn winds won't corrupt them.

Thanks! Your help might be too late for last Saturday's free cut, but it'll help us all get a little more digging-in—whether the books or the bed.

Sleepily yours,
Stu die M. Yawn

Dear Studie,
Your problem is recognizable as one stemming from the poor souls quartered on the halls and passageways of McLevin, North and Bencroft.

We are fortunately fortunate to have these covered breezeways to shade us from Rock Hill's "H-3-Only." But this privilege, like all others, is often abused by inconsiderate students who are rushing nowhere at the top of their speed and lungs.

They rarely must not realize that people actually inhabit those stairways that adorn the black walls between here and there and Kinard and the dining room. Your bringing the unpleasant fact of stomping feet and screeching voices will probably be the gentle reminder we all need.

So, my suggestion is to cross signa saying "Quiet! Student's Sanctuary" and "Shhhhhhhhh." Or shade us from Rock Hill's "H-3-Only." But this privilege, like all others, is often abused by inconsiderate students who are rushing nowhere at the top of their speed and lungs.

Aberrations???
Since these presumably Not-Minded Freshmen have taken over our campus, the fast still remains that there are a few upperclassmen left in these hallowed halls. Upperclassmen, ask yourselves — "How have we made it this far?" Is it because we too, are equipped with an apparatus which we think that we think with, or because no like-ly unsuspecting male has come along to aid the plight of the muddled knut? Ehrrrrr, I think it's because we possess a large portion of sapience and an hallucination that better things are yet to come.

Belated Natal Greetings
Belated natal greetings are to be extended to Peter and Pat Purrr Post. May their longevity be longer than that of the spider's which Pat Oliver squashed.

Brotherly Love?
Through a series of misadventures our supposedly brother school has managed to chalk up redious points in my black book. This aggression began when Clemson took away our Home Demonstration Department. Last year they managed to aggregate a few more when they decided to discontinue Big Thursday. This, as we all know, led to the suspension of our Fall Break and the cessation of the Powder Puff Bowl. This last deprivation has led to gastric disturbances in the P.D. Department since this was the one event on our campus that was televised over the state. During these last

I have only one thing to say about Classes Night that I can safely get away with — it was grand! The spirit and enthusiasm shown by each class amazes me every year. All the time, work, and energy put into it is certainly worth it. Having each member of the class pulling together, even though they may be spread over every dorm on campus, is a reward in itself.

My thanks to the faculty committee who brought General Broom to our campus. Never have we had a speaker who aroused more interest from the students.

Conclusions
The following is an excerpt from the Winthrop newspaper, The Old Gold and Black.

"We noticed in the Winthrop newspaper, The Johnsonian, the other day the following comment: . . . Conclusions . . . 'Winthrop girls, get yourself a Citadel man. They're the best!' We agree whole-heartedly, but with the following qualifications. They're the best regimented likeness of lived-in menials found in the state.

If that is what Winthrop girls burn for, more power to them!"

A.M.
Well, to "A.M." and the rest of the unlearned manials I want to say I'm sorry if I wounded your male ego. This was no slam on the Weiford boys I mean, gentlemen, but I just happen to know more about Citadel men.

'61ers Win Again; Frosh Place Second

Tense silence contrasted sharply with the rousing cheers that had filled the auditorium only a few moments before. Approximately 1300 girls breathlessly awaited the decisive announcement of the chairman of the judges. The question "who has won Classes Night?" and a silent prayer ran through every mind.

Dr. Elisabeth Massey, after a few moments of introductory statements, eased the tension somewhat with the announcement of second place winner, the freshman class. After an outburst of applause, students and spectators once again became silent while waiting endless minutes for the judges' final decision. A few words were spoken and the winner was declared; the class of '61 had done it again.

Bedlam broke loose; freshmen, sophomores and juniors paid tribute to the seniors with cheers, songs and applause. Seniors hugged one another and then dashed onto the stage to victoriously hoist class cheerleader Jeannie Black, who tightly grasped the shining trophy, to their shoulders.

For the second consecutive year the class of '61 garnered the Classes Night trophy. The spirited seniors broke an over a decade old tradition last year when as juniors they were judged winners of the event; they have now added another feather to their class hat. Freshmen probably set a record this year by placing second. There is no evidence of this occurring in previous years.

Criteria for judging included six points: entrance, costumes, sister class song, class cheers, shot and class spirit. Five faculty members, sitting in different parts of the auditorium, rated each of the four classes. Their combined scores at the end of the performance determined the winner. Dr. Massey, Miss Nancy Revell, Miss Marjorie Ketchner, Dr. Lucile Delano and Dr. Jack Beger were given this responsibility.

The production of each class was handled by its cheerleaders, who are: freshmen, Betty Wren and Mickey Davis; sophomores, Sandra Hagler and Nancy Davis; juniors, Evie Schwarting and Betty Kloo King; and senior, Jeannie Black. Jeannie was also chairman of the entire event.

Mrs. Long Gives Talk

Sigma Epsilon Kappa held its first meeting of the year October 20 in the Conference Room of Main Building. Mrs. W. L. Long of the Drama Department presented a program which compared literature and drama. She illustrated her point with the play, "Death of the Salesman."

Approximately 60 members attended the meeting. The club consists of junior and senior English majors.

The purpose of Sigma Epsilon Kappa is to provide a basis of widening the horizons of growth of the English majors by discussion and lectures.

Club Initiates New Members

Mum's word in the initiation of the new members of Pi Delta Phi on November 2.

New members to be initiated are Betty Ann Hagins, Hannah Hickman, Billie O'Sheala, Nancy Smith, and Linda Stevens.

To be a member of Pi Delta Phi one must have a high overall high grade point ratio and a "B" average in French. Members must have had at least one advanced course in French. Pi Delta Phi is a national French honor society.

Alumnae Meet Hear Dr. Love

The third meeting of the Winthrop Alumnae Association will be held tomorrow at Soben's Lakeview Club in Hartsville. Alumnae who are members of the eastern and north-central districts of the state will attend this meeting.

Dr. Alice Love, associate professor of English and a member of the Honors faculty, will be the featured speaker of the morning. She will speak on "Artists in Eighteenth Century England."

Making reports will be Mrs. Sherwood B. Miller of Lancaster, president of the Alumnae Association; Miss Susie McKeown, of Rock Hill, chairman of the Scholarship Committee; and Miss Eleanor Foxworth, alumnae secretary.

Alumnae Hold Fall Meetings

The Suzanne Rutledge Johnson Chapter of the Winthrop Alumnae Association in Rock Hill met Wednesday night in the lounge of the Winthrop College Gymnasium for its fall meeting.

Miss Eleanor Foxworth, Alumnae secretary, talked to the group on the work of the Alumnae Association. Officers were elected and plans for the year were made. The Greenwood Chapter of the Winthrop Alumnae Association entertained with a tea yesterday afternoon in Greenwood. Special guests were the girls of the local high school.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Davis and Miss Eleanor Foxworth attended.

Canterbury Sponsors Carnival

Halloween came early for the children of the Episcopal Church of Our Savior and their friends as they attended the Halloween Carnival given for them by the Winthrop Canterbury Club.

The carnival was held in the church parish house. The event is an annual project of Canterbury Club, and all proceeds go to foreign missions. Kaki Maheim was in charge of the event.

On Tuesday, the girls heard an address by Miss Mary Ann Skinner, a former Winthrop Canterbury, who is now a missionary to Liberia.

'Just For Fun' Play Fulfills All Promises

By HEATHER McDONALD

"Charley's Aunt" is, as Director Robert Swain put it, "just for laughs." From delicate litters to unexpressed fears, this zany, slapstick comedy kept the audience in stitches with its unbelievable and ridiculous spoofs.

A farce, which emphasizes situation rather than characterization, "Charley's Aunt" calls for a great deal of stage movement and cross-fire dialogue, which were handled remarkably well, though the pace was a little awkward in some spots. The cast was caught up in the high split of the play, adding to their own special brand of flip humor and spontaneity.

Contributing to much of the show's hilarity is Marshall Law, as the lively, cigar-smoking version of Charley's aunt, David White's dry wit and twisted-smile antics fill his role as Charles Wykeham. Supporting actor Bob Marshall arouses the audience's sympathy as Bransett, the poor under-dog valet, and Winthrop's Pat Holland portrays Donna Lucia d'Alcayuz with dignity and charm.

Two colorful costumes supervised by Mr. Christopher Reynolds and the scenery (Mr. Swain) are impressive in carrying out the Oxfordton setting of the Gay Nineties.

Talented Pianist Harriet Hope Selected This Edition's Personality Of The Week

By DAPHNE CONNELL

A senior music major, Harriet Hope was elected this week's personality.

"Stupid; and oh, I love potato chips. Isn't that stupid?" This was the answer given by this edition's Personality of the Week, Harriet Hope, when asked what are her favorite foods.

Harriet is a 21-year-old senior from Sumter, S. C. Her major is piano. She thinks that the Winthrop Music Department is very good and feels that it has improved greatly since her freshman year. Noted for her talent, Harriet has been asked to accompany several musicians visiting on campus.

During her years at Winthrop, Harriet has been active in school life. She has been a Sophomore adviser in McLaurin, a member of the Winthrop Music Club, dance committee member, Senator, Marshall, fellowship chairman of the Winthrop Christian Association, May Court attendant, and sophomore class pianist. She assists as pianist for the Winthrop Choir.

When asked about her hobbies, Harriet thought for a minute and then gave her answer as water skiing, swimming and playing bridge. From an unidentified source came the fact that she also rather likes riding in sports cars!

Roberts Represents Winthrop

Mr. Dayton Y. Roberts, director of Public Relations at Winthrop, will represent the College at the Southeastern District Meeting of the American College Public Relations Association at the University of Florida in Gainesville from Sunday through Tuesday.

Mr. Roberts is chairman of the South Carolina College's Public Relations Committee. Serving in this capacity, he will be in charge of the Monday afternoon session of the three-day meeting.

Iowa Adds New Lang.

The State University of Iowa is one of three universities in the United States to receive a federal grant to establish a Chinese Language and Cultural Center beginning with the present 1960-61 academic year. SUU will receive the funds under the National Defense Education Act to strengthen facilities for study of language not commonly taught in the U.S.

Twenty-six colleges and universities in the U. S. have been designated to receive federal grants to establish "critical" language centers in Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese, Arabic, Russian or Hindustani. These "critical" languages are spoken by three-quarters of the earth's population. Although Chinese is the native tongue of 650 million people, only a handful of schools in the U. S. offer courses in the language.

Caught in the act, faculty members show their true natures at one of the weekly "coffee" sponsored by THE JOHNSONIAN.

Weekly Johnsonian Coffee Hour Features Topics Ranging From Current Events To Campus Jokes

By JUDY HENBLEY

With everybody from President Charles S. Davis to lowly "rats" present and every topic from current events to the latest campus jokes under discussion, THE JOHNSONIAN holds coffee hour every Monday afternoon.

A weekly event where faculty members join the paper staff for informal chats, "Coffee" enables students to become acquainted with professors and college officials that they otherwise might not know. One freshman was thrilled to really meet President

Davis personally. "How I can answer all of Mama's questions about 'you'" she exclaimed.

In addition to giving everyone an opportunity to express her views on important happenings, "Coffee" conversation let's out pet peeves. For instance, did you know that Dr. Margaret Hess hates being called Doctor, greatly preferring Miss? She actually "refused" to contribute her humor to the conversation last week until she was "properly addressed."

A familiar visitor every week is Mr. A. M. Graham, college administrative director, who is known for his witty anecdotes. Other regulars include Ann Marshall and Mrs. J. S. Ellis of News Service, Mr. Fred Johnson of the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, Mr. Marshall Dowski of the ROCK HILL EVENING HERALD, and Dr. Henry Sims.

Dr. Sims usually brings along small cigars the length of cigarette to offer the girls who aren't quite up to smoking one of his king-size cigars.

One standing: culture at "Coffee" is the beautiful "matched" coffee service which does not always prove adequate for the number of guests who arrive. A latecomer may be subjected to drinking from a purple cup in a yellow saucer and in using a wooden spoon.

No Monday get-togethers would be complete without the Bermuda student reporters, who come down to turn in their stories, walk gaily in and back hastily out when they catch sight of the dignitaries.

Ending about supertime, "Coffee" leaves a promise of more interesting conversation next time.

Shack History Is Interesting And Varied As Revealed By Close Look At The Past

By TEX HAMILTON

Slow down, Winston, and look carefully at the stone walls and foundation surrounding nothing but green grass. Newcomers to Winthropland, don't let anything escape your gaze, for you are seeing another phase of Winthrop history in the making. That building in the distance is the Shack. Yesterday it was here; today it is there.

The Shack got its start under President Kinard sometime around 1930 for the benefit of the seniors. Members of the senior class used to go to the location of the Shack, carry their own mattresses, and sleep on the ground around a campfire. This practice induced the raising of a building known as the "Senior Shack."

Suggestions for turning the building into a dormitory for the building included taking the lights over the mantle away because that was too civilized. Draperies were also suggested to be a protection from the public and from the cold. On the outside it was suggested that there be a "gate" or some arrangement for entrance.

In 1933 rules prohibiting card playing and smoking, stated that no men except members of the faculty could be entertained there, and that any party necessarily over 20 must have two chaperones, and admitted, "Great care to be taken to guard against the possibility of fire."

In 1957 under President Sims, the lake came into being. Construction began in September and was completed by November.

It covers 9 1/2 acres and holds approximately 12 million gallons of water. The shallowest end is two feet and the deepest is 15. Its water supply comes from the drainage of surrounding hills, rainfall and several springs flowing into the lake.

The lake was built mainly for the recreation and training of Winthrop students, although at present time the bacterial count is too high for the water to be safely used.

Now another change has come about. Because of drainage conditions, it became necessary to move the Shack to a level about seven feet higher. This is a better location in relation to view, as it is higher, and to symmetry, as it is now at the center of the lake.

However, the Shack has not settled down to peaceful bliss yet, for even more is in store. The entire building is to be enlarged. The front porch is looking forward to being enclosed, while the side next to the lake is expecting a porch the full length of the Shack with a sun-deck on top.

The kitchen will be enlarged to approximately twice its size, and a porch will be added to it. It will be heated for the winter, and visiting groups will stay there.

Social Eyes

By NANCY JONES

Social Eyes appear a little misty and dreamy this week as memories of our first formal dance linger in the minds of those who attended it. With Classes Normal and the Autumn Ball coming so close together, the campus was filled with friends, parents, and beans. Someone remarked that it looked as if WC had turned over.

But in addition to the activities here on campus, some Winthropians traveled afar to go to dances and football games on other campuses.
